Coffey Anderson will headline Nashville's newest Veterans Day event on Nov. 11; Tickets now on sale

Star-studded concert to benefit The Mission Continues, a national veteran service organization

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23, 2024 /PRNewswire/ -- The Mission Continues, a veteran service and volunteer organization that deploys veterans across the US to help under-resourced communities, announced that the organization will be the main charitable partner for the upcoming Salute to Service event hosted at the Skydeck on Broadway in Nashville, Tennessee on Veterans Day, November 11, Coffey Anderson, country singer-songwriter, will be headlining the event, and will also participate in the Nashville Veterans Day parade as the grand marshal. Josh Mancuso, a Nashville-native and award-winning actor, comedian, and filmmaker known for viral comedy videos centered around sports, especially football, will serve as emcee for the event. Salute to Service was named the official after-party of the parade and will honor the bravery and sacrifice of veterans, active-duty military personnel, and their families while raising funds for The Mission Continues and the Veteran Corporate Council, a coalition of veteran ERGs (employee resource groups) with a vision to be the premier national professional network among top companies.

NSSF gives statement on Montana U.S. Senate candidate Tim Sheehy's false firearm allegations

From The Outdoor Wire

NSSF, The Firearm Industry Trade Association, has seen in recent days media repeat an unsubstantiated allegation the Montana U.S. Senate candidate Tim Sheehy mishandled a firearm, resulting in personal injury to himself. The fact that this months-old and unproven allegation is resurfacing in the closing days of a hotly-contested election is unsurprising, given the current state of politics and hyperbolic rhetoric that has come to characterize our political contests.

NSSF has examined the facts, as presented by media reporting, and offers the following observations based on the design, safety features and protocols, and caliber of the firearm Mr. Sheehy was carrying at the time of the alleged incident in Glacier National Park in October of 2015. "The proper way to carry a single action Colt .45 revolver is with the hammer down on an empty chamber to prevent an unintended discharge should the firearm be accidentally dropped or fall. Based on the facts as we understand them, the park ranger found the revolver with the hammer down on an empty chamber. Therefore, it would appear Mr. Sheehy was following

Additionally, modern firearms are designed to industry standards to withstand abusive mishandling to prevent them from discharging unintentionally if dropped," Keane added. "A point-blank discharge of Colt .45 round would have caused extensive - and obvious - damage to Mr. Sheehy's arm and would have required immediate medical attention, possibly including surgery, of the gunshot wound. If Mr. Sheehy were actually shot at Glacier as is alleged, it is unimaginable he would walk out of the hospital just a few hours later..."
