Pete Hegseth and the Democrats’ Sexfare

By Ms. Arelia J. Mitchell, Publisher/Editor-in-Chief

The Mid-South Tribune

Lawfare and sexfare. These are two areas the Democrats have excelled in, going all the way back in the day when Emmet Till was murdered because a white woman said he whistled at her. Till got tortured to death; the woman went scott free until the day she died. So, it is not unusual that women – or what Democrats have deemed “birthing persons”—to yell wolf when there is no wolf or when the ‘wolf’ has paid her off; yet, she shows up at a most ‘inconvenient’ time to get more pay and fame. This is now happening to Pete Hegseth, President Trump’s nominee to head the Department of Defense. Furthermore, it seems that a group of Republican female insurrectionists are trying to mount a campaign against Hegseth. Each time these women accusers come out at a most ‘inconvenient’ time to give interviews, renew their accusations for the media hit teams and violate their hush contracts, very seldom does anyone bother to ask these birthing persons “why?” and “who is paying you now to come out years after all has been said and done?” Yes, some of these men as could be in the case of Hegseth and even Trump himself decide to just simply pay off these gold-diggers to protect their families, their reputation, and themselves (not always in this order) because, unfortunately, the way society works these days that if you are male, ‘you are damned if you do and damned if you don’t.’ These female accusers go scott free because they are aided and abetted by a mostly Democratic Party-biased media and a Democratic Party-biased judiciary about as corrupt as it was in the Jim Crow era when lawfare was utilized to confiscate land, personal property, reputations, livelihoods. Today, Black Democratic Party elites are aiding and abetting their party inside the media and the judiciary. Why?

Because the Democratic Party has in its political DNA a need to weaponize the courts and the bedroom. Lawfare and sexfare. As a matter of fact, it might be well worth it for DOGE to go all the way in for transparency and reveal how many senators and congressmen have paid off women to settle their 'affairs' and sexual harassment accusations with that hush-hush slush sex funds they use for such naughtiness.

This has got to come to an end—where women are pulled out from yesteryear to take down a Republican nominee. It has gotten to a point of absurdity (as was in the case of Trump himself and Justice Kavanaugh, Justice Clarence Thomas, among others.) where qualifications are thrown out the door and sex becomes the focus point. Sexfare is a cheap way to go and to hit below the belt (pun intended). Pres. Trump, Justice Kavanaugh, and Justice Thomas fought back and not by getting on defense but offense. Hegseth should be allowed to do the same in a congressional hearing (circus) and to even ask questions of his accusers, and yes even of his Republican anti-Trump insurrectionists.

This sexfare has got to end because it demeans true victims of rape, assault, and abuse. These true victims cannot even get through a courtroom door or have rape kits to make legal charges. It has gotten so ridiculous now that if a little boy is 12 and winked at a little girl and decides to run for office 25 years later, she would be dug out of the annals of time to testify against him that his wink was sexual assault. These women who serve as quasi-Democratic Party operatives have been allowed to destroy marriages, families, reputations, and livelihoods. How long will this absurdity be rewarded and tolerated by some obsessive Me Too Movement which advocates that ALL women are to be believed? Perhaps it is time for men "to just say no" and visit that Hood called Man.

When President Trump rose up and yelled "Fight, fight, fight!" that should also serve as a warrior's cry for these men to fight sexfare.

This brings us to the FACT that Pete Hegseth has seven children, and he is home with his wife living on a farm. He proclaims the Christian faith and in this day that bothers Democrats and their godless progressive-socialist agenda. Hegseth is not perfect. But he is a warrior and his political warrior skills should be used to take down and take out those who wish to destroy him, his family, his children, his faith, his reputation, and yes, even his ambition in his career (having a healthy ambition is no sin). Hegseth's book "The War on Warriors: Behind the Betrayal of the Men Who Keep Us Free" can apply to hypocritical Democrats (who had no problem with a congressman screwing a Chinese spy) and yes—even those Republican holier-than-thou females and males in Congress who have allowed sexfare to be used to preempt President Trump's cabinet nominees while they protect the hush-hush slush funds of taxpayers' money to accommodate the "sins" of their fellow congressmen to pay off those who accuse them of the same thing they are accusing Hegseth of. These turn-coat Republicans and hypocritical Democrats certainly had no problem when a woman accused Joe Biden of 'misconduct.' They had no problem in understanding that Biden went to 'war' when he pardoned his sorry ass son. Biden got the cabinet he wanted without nary an outcry from turn-coat Republicans. The same respect should be afforded to President Trump who has every right to get the cabinet he wants. If they don't work out, he can always say, "You're fired!"

How odd that sexfare is mainly used when it comes to Republican males.

Oh yes, and one must not forget that Hegseth's critics want to go back in time to accuse him as a 27-year-old of mismanaging funds from a veteran's group where he held an office; yet, these same Dems have yet to look at a 60-year-old female presidential candidate who used up a billion-plus dollars in a few months and still went some $20 million more into debt. These critics have also been muzzled on alleged sex orgies happening inside the Veterans Administration right now under the Biden regime.

To reiterate, Pete Hegseth is the father of seven children, a husband, a family man, and yes—he dares—to say that he believes in God. He is not perfect. Who is? This sexfare against Hegseth should be fought back, because it has to end as a weapon of mass male destruction (MDD). Again, we stand by those women who have truly experienced the devastation of rape and abuse, and not by women who want their fifteen minutes of fame in congressional hearings. Sexfare must be fought. It must not become a weapon a woman or Democratic Party operatives can use so easily to destroy a man, to destroy families, to destroy reputations for political gamesmanship, especially by a party which has a long history of doing the same to Black American males (and one wonders why decent, hard-working Black men are crossing over to the Republican Party).

Pete Hegseth has literally put his life on the line to protect this nation and yes, for even those who are trying to take him down with sexfare. Hegseth has served in Iraq and Afghanistan, and has been honored with an array of well-earned combat medals, including a National Defense Medal which is apropos seeing that this nation is on the brink of World War III. We need a warrior and patriot to head the Department of Defense. Just as President Trump rose up from an assassin's attempt to take him down and yelled, "Fight, Fight, Fight!" it is incumbent that Hegseth "Fight, Fight, Fight" to preserve his dignity, his family's dignity and the dignity as a true patriot who has proven that he will literally go into battle and take bullets.

We endorse Pete Hegseth as Secretary of Defense.
